The True Revelation Ministry, A 2010YR Ministry Inc. ministry A 501 (C) 3 ministry.

Our Vision & Mission

Vision Statement: To prepare the Kingdom of God worldwide for the coming of the sure prophecy delivered in the book of Revelation.

Mission Statement: To make available the simplest and most accurate understanding possible of Revelation and, develop individual commitment, and autonomous activities which direct as many Christians to the material as possible.

The Ministry History & Milestones

Background: Upon careful study of the book of Revelation I realized certain prevailing ideas in Christian thoughts unique to our day and time would serve as catalyst for most Christian's participation in certain events which promote the efforts and purposes of the antichrist end time world government.

Milestones: I discovered that the entire message of Revelation is completely unlocked through an understanding of how terms and numbers are used figuratively throughout scripture Old and New Testament. I further discovered that any interpretation placed on Revelation by using information from history, about certain governments or leaders "since" the writing of Revelation serve to pollute the message and lead to many misconceptions concerning the text.

The Problem & The Need

Problem Statement: There is a gross lack of interest in the book of Revelation due in part by its symbolic nature and the prevailing spiritual immaturity of the saints. The problem is complicated by a flood of grossly erroneous interpretations of it's content which have been circulated through media movie presentations, and a vast array of written material in book form and especially on the Internet; most of which places literal interpretations on terms and numbers used figuratively. These presentations lack the continuity and canon of scripture and relegate anyone searching for the truth of the message to countless hours of frustration with convoluted material. Through these ideas many saints are led to believe they will not be required to chose between life or death and their faith "worldwide " Many believe they can maintain good standing with Christ even if they comply to the laws and citizenship of a world government which seeks to eradicate Christianity from the face of the earth.

In addition to the interest dilemma of Revelation, two prevailing ideas in Christian thought serve as mental roadblocks to this message from God to the saints. The first of these ideas is the idea that once someone obeys the Lord in coming to him " it is infinitely impossible to lose their salvation and good standing with Christ"; the second idea is that God is talking to the saints in their thoughts, dreams, or in other ways believed of many saints in our day and time that God is communicating to them outside of the bible. The prophecy of a world government system is a sure message of Revelation. Many saints have been convinced that the true saints of God will be delivered from having to make a choice between compliance with the antichrist world government, by being taken away at the precise time a world government comes into existence. Many others believe that whether they comply or not they will be saved by God regardless of their decisions. Also, when many other saints realize they will not be able to maintain any quality of life outside of declaring citizenship (compliance) to the world government, many of them will convince themselves God has spoken to them in their thoughts or dreams in order to rationalize their decision to be a part of the system, even though it seeks to abolish the Christian faith through laws and punishments which seek to prevent any participation in Christian practice.

A third and final problem is the unwillingness of the pastors of most Christian churches to listen to a message on any level of reasoning that differs from their established beliefs and individual church stated mission. Some ignore the message even when they realize their teachings will someday make it very comfortable for their followers to comply with a world government system that opposes Christ. Often they will avoid any further discussion of the potential of their erroneous doctrines, and should it become necessary they will have any one speaking of such things removed from church property.

Need Statement:

Firstly: I realized a strong case would have to be made for the proper use of figurative terms and numbers as they contribute to a simple and clear message from Revelation. They would need to comfortably communicate a message with continuity and clarity with all the rest of the scripture and what was written before Revelation.

Secondly: When I realized the prevailing Christian thought of our time would cause many to fall away when faced with their survival; I determined in prayer to God to communicate the gospel truth in such a way that if listened to it would be impossible to miss the message of the true gospel, and understand the fallacy of certain ideas about the gospel; the result was, "The Gospel Story".

Thirdly: I realized the message of Revelation and the Gospel Story needed to be freely available to all who would receive it.

Our Solution

Revelation In Plain Language is a step-by-step simplified method of introducing the nature and character of the message of Revelation, it's descriptive terms and numeric terms, as they are used in prophecy and defined from a careful study of the Hebrew and Greek uses of the words and numbers. These terms and numbers are used entirely to carefully interpret the message of Revelation and explain it in a very simplified way. Revelation In Plain Language is available free and explained in it's entirety in video form on the website <http://thetruerevelation.com> by the creator Jo Bernard himself. It is the desire of this ministry to generate participation of those which will commit to proclaim this message and seek to direct other Christians to it's material on the website and in written form. As the author of this works I would like to travel from city to city while gathering participation and commitment of others to direct Christians to the material offered through this ministry. I'd like to begin traveling from city to city with this message by March of 2010

The Gospel Story uses simple biblical illustrations in a narrated story to highlight the truth of the gospel and expose the erroneous ideas currently prevailing in Christian thought of our day and time. It is impossible to listen to it without understanding the fullness of the gospel of Christ and becoming painfully aware of the fallacy of certain current ideas accepted as common to Christian teachings. The Gospel Story is featured on the same website page as Revelation In Plain Language and serves as "Salvation Preparation for the book of Revelation.

The participants of these seminars will be asked to contribute to the ministry according to their personal commitment. In time and as possible, radio airtime will be incorporated to advertise seminars.
